Racial, Religious Appeal Charge Hurlled at Tories

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Public charges of use of racial and religious campaign appeals emerged for the first time last night as the drive for Canada's June 27 election quickened in tempo.

With voting date little more than three weeks away, the accusation came from R. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, the country's bilingual prime minister, as he called upon Progressive Conservative leaders to repudiate publicly racial and religious tactics which he said have been used in French-speaking Quebec.

TORY AD READ

He read to a public meeting in Owen Sound, Ont., an advertisement published in French-language newspapers which said he had walked out of the common hearth there "not against divorce, but he had refused to appoint an ambassador to the Vatican and that he had said the French language could be abolished by the commons."

"I'm not going to waste your time or mine by replying to what the advertisement contains," he told his English-speaking audience, but he felt his listeners had a right "to know what kind of appeal is being made in Quebec by the Conservative party."

Mr. St. Laurent pursued his Ontario campaign, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, speaking at Kelowna, B.C., returned to a denunciation of socialism.

M. J. Colwell, CCF leader speaking at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., also touched on old ground with a charge that Liberals and Progressive Conservatives are entering into coalition in some federal constituencies.

Mr. Drew said he is fighting Socialism because he doesn't want to see Canada shackled in her greatest period in history. "I am fighting Socialism because of its cruel deception," he added. "I am fighting Socialism because of its failure wherever it has been tried. I am fighting Socialism because it opens the door to Communism."

PC AID 'PARTIAL POWER' Mr. Colwell said Liberals and Progressive Conservatives have entered into some aidings to support one another's candidates and argued this is proof of coalition. Progressive Conservatives are seeking through a coalition with Liberals.

Mr. St. Laurent denied a statement by George Drew, chief Progressive Conservative organizer in Quebec, that Liberal workers have told housewives that a Progressive Conservative government would "tear down the crucifixes in the Roman Catholic schools."

He said he had no knowledge of such practices by Liberal workers and would not tolerate them if they existed. At Halifax, Reconstruction Minister Winter said the federal government is prepared to give capital grants to provincial governments to assist in new housing construction. Any provincial government which "really means business" will have no difficulty obtaining co-operation from a Liberal government at Ottawa.

Social Credit Leader in B.C.

VANCOUVER, June 2.—(CP)—Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit party, arrived here last night to take to hustings on behalf of party candidates for the provincial legislature.

WHISTLIN' BARE knows how to get attention—quick. When 10-month-old Michael Vande Berg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Vande Berg of Chicago, wants attention, he just pucks up and whistles like this.

Survey Parties Heading North

Three survey parties of the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys are in Edmonton en route to summer work in Great Slave Lake area. A topographical party of 15, headed by Eric Fry, will be mapping the east arm of the lake, while another topographical party of 15, with Hugh Munro in charge, will be surveying the southern part of the lake.

Colin Martin is heading a hydrographic party of 12 which will be working near Slave River delta, Hay River and the entrance to the Yellowknife River. About 60 to 70 per cent of this area remains uncharted.

Party leaders admitted surveys indicated an interest by prospectors and mine owners, and that there is considerable demand for maps of this area recently.

Between them the parties carry about 100,000 vertical photographs of the area taken by the RCAF, which will be used as the basis of their work. Probably aerial surveys will be undertaken in connection with their work, but party leaders are uncertain of definite arrangements.

Presbyterians Elect Moderator

KITCHENER, Ont. June 2.—(CP)—Rev. C. L. Cowan of Hamilton, Scottish-born churchman and scholar, was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada last night by the church's 73rd general assembly, meeting here.

He succeeds Rev. C. R. Ball of Outremont, Que. As moderator, he will preside at the general assembly and will be relieved of his own church duties during his one-year term of office so he can visit Presbyterian congregations across Canada.

Rudolf Bing New Met Mgr.

LONDON, June 2.—(CP)—Rudolf Bing has been appointed new general manager of Metropolitan Opera Association in New York, it was announced last night. He succeeds Edward Johnson, a native of Quebec, Ont. Bing is artistic director of Edinburgh International festival of music and drama.

Morgan of Vancouver was named a vice-president. Directors elected included A. V. Poirer of Winnipeg, J. J. Haug of Regina and A. Madore of Port Arthur, Ont.

Rimstad Definitely One Of EAC's Coach Possibles

Morcy Rimstad is one of six being considered by Edmonton Athletic Club officials for coach of their junior hockey team, according to president H. L. (Bud) Williamson.

"Rimstad is definitely one of our choices," Williamson said yesterday, while discussing the EAC entry in the Western Canada Junior Hockey League. "But he has made no commitments to us at the present time."

It is understood that others being considered for the post are Jimmy Graham and Clarence Mohr, although it is understood the latter has declined the offer. Graham guided Waterloo Mercury to western intermediate crown last spring while Mohr coached Alberta Golden Bears to an intercollegiate title.

Frank Curtis, Edmonton Flyers coach, claims to know nothing of team. He used to play peewee. "I doubt Rimstad forsaking senior know nothing about it," when early date, anyway.

By Dick Beddoes

Up until last night I thought soccer football was either a disease of the feet or a thyroid condition of fledgling "beers." Now I know that it is a game where 22 young men (11 on your side and 11 on mine) agitate a leather ball inflated with air for 90 minutes, more or less.

Last night at Clarke Stadium there was a winning side (Newcastle 16 and a losing one (Alberta All-Stars 2) and a lot of silvering people (5,000 estimated) looking on.

The object appears to be to kick the ball with the feet or butt it with the head through opponent's goal at every opportunity. As you can see from the score Newcastle had this object very firmly fixed in mind, while Alberta... well, however, the Albertans can be described as gamesters of the finest species. They ran like thieves with the hotfoot all evening against one of the finest teams in all England, which meant the world when it came to football. They were outplayed at every turn but at the finish someone yelled, "How about a cheer for Alberta!"

It was given, and with plenty of enthusiasm. As for myself, I thought it was a match. I can feature myself kicking the ball with all the vim and vigor of a two-year-old. But my head, which is pointed, would be a handicap when it came to heading the ball. This feature of my anatomy also would puncture any balls with which it came in contact, thus adding to the expense of the game.

However, I am convinced this soccer is quite a sport. It is not at all like cricket, which has been the butt of jokes ever since Sir Francis Drake scuttled the Spanish Armada in 1588, and is much more invigorating than chess. And it keeps you hustling to play it all well.

Details concerning last night's game are not too important from the standpoint of history. The first ball was kicked by Hon. Lucien Maynard, Alberta attorney general, into a stiff breeze. The first goal was scored by the RCMP band was "There'll Always Be An England," although it was closely rivaled by a gentleman on my right who was whistling "Home on the Range" in honor of the Alberta boys.

After these incidental festivities were wound up the game began in earnest. The man on my right had a pencil and I had the privilege of looking over his shoulder while he recorded the following statistics as the game progressed:

"Newcastle goal getters—Jackie Milford & George Robledo 5, Joe Harvey 2, Bob Mitchell 2, Tommy Walker 1.

Alberta goal getters—Bob Graham 1, Dave Gilligan 1.

Best men on the field—Derek Crowe, Alberta goal-keeper.

That's George Robledo on the other end of the shot, finishing off his fifth goal of the night.

Box Score

Puritys Gain on Cubs By Blasting Buffaloes

CALGARY, June 2 (CP)—Getting to pitcher Ken Terry for a pair of singles and three bases on balls while Buffalo fielders bobbed two plays, Puritys last night won over Buffs 5-5 in a five-inning Big Four Baseball league game.

Victory pulled Calgary within half a game of the league-leading Edmonton Cubs who were idle.

Half the game was played in a steady drizzle and the contest finally struggled to regulation length (5 innings) after one intermission called by umpires.

Ernie Chukalos, the big bat of the Puritys squad, added another home run to his fast-growing collection when he drove the ball over the fence with nose on in the fourth.

Jim Forsythe, Buffalo's young manager, did the same with a man on base in the fifth.

Completed a brilliant night at bat by hitting a three-bagger in the first.

A trio of singles scored Dick Nuch for Purity in the first but Buffs got the run back in the same inning when Forsythe tripled and Gibson drove him home with a single. Second was scored then Purity won the game in the first.

Singles by Nuch and Bernadot sandwiching three successive bases on balls given by Terry, were combined with two errors to bring in five runs. Chukalos' homer in the fourth and a fifth-frame rally counted on Bernadot's double and McIntyre's single.

Final Derby Call-Over Friday

LONDON, June 2.—(Reuters)—Rugby football and Seawall Taff first and second favorites respectively, were well backed when the race was called over on the Epsom Derby at the Victoria club last night.

Royal Forest closed at 3 to 1 and Seawall Taff at 8 to 1.

Nimbus displaced as second favorite by Seawall Taff, closed at 9 to 1, half a point more than earlier in the week. The odds against the French threat, Armour Drake, fell from 100 to 7 to 100 to 5, the

The block made some other jolting, but it had track of them in the excitement. However, I made a few social notes, which I pass on to you here at no extra charge.

(1) "Ave another go, Jackie!" was the phrase most heard by the fans, and it was emitted in a variety of Anglo-Saxon accents, all the way from broad Cockney to Highland Scottish.

(2) The facilities at the park were not satisfactory. It took the greater part of the night to squeeze through the crowd to see small concession stand and purchase a warmer dressed up in a bun. And the sanitary facilities were a disgrace.

(3) That magpie which the Bulletin presented to Newcastle captain Joe Harvey was a fine bird. As you all know the magpie is the official emblem of Newcastle United and the team is frequently called "Magpies."

(4) This is a good time as any to sign "off" to this discourse.

Goalkeeper Derek Crowe was perhaps the outstanding player in last night's match. He was well-beaten on most of the shots that got by him and frequently was left in a lurch when the Alberta backs were faked out of position.

In the other goal Jack Fairbrother didn't have to carry on in the stress which was put on one of the highest-priced athletes for his position in the world. But he showed a lot of color.

Comment: If Fairbrother is good then Frank Swift must be considerably better... Swift has been chosen as goalie English international for many years.

J. A. Macdonald presented the Bulletin magpie to Newcastle captain Joe Harvey in the absence of publisher Hal Straight... A magpie was presented to Newcastle United some 44 years ago and has since become the team's official emblem...

Comment: It was unfortunate that Mr. Straight wasn't available to present the bird... After all he shot it one day while out selling papers and as a trophy it occupied a warm spot in his heart...

Comment: If the venture can be made a financial success, then the Dominion Football association might be advised to promote such ventures annually... Only by witnessing good soccer teams at regular intervals can the Canadian public be made to appreciate the game...

Life in the South Side Woods Not So Different

Morning wash-up is same in trailer camp as in regular homes three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Geary discover. Geary, derrick man at Redwater, brought his family here from Riverton, Wyoming. Ernest gets hair trimmed as Lloyd and Sam wait turn.

Cosy kitchen corner is handy place for doing dishes and Mrs. Walter Finnie smiles to prove it. Husband is trucker for oil company and built large trailer in just six weeks. They came here from Olds.

South Side auto camp is jam-packed with trailer homes of oil workers and tourists. Store at camp provides families with groceries and other necessities. Those who don't want to cook in trailers use big camp kitchen. Camp provides families with electricity, gas for cooking and showers. Most workers remain six, seven months then move on north.

By J. D.

The East in general and Toronto in particular is going to do something at last about being disliked by the west.

So concerned are the down-easters about the deterioration of East-West relations they are going to send out a horde of good-will ambassadors come July.

First stop will be the Calgary Stampede with side trips to Edmonton, Banff, Regina, Saskatoon and Winnipeg.

Announcement of the goodwill tour got me thinking about the real reason for the alleged strained relations between east and west.

Some people put it down to business jealousy. They say the west is more because the east has most of the people, nearly all the factories, practically all head offices of big Canadian companies and the national mind.

Others come right out bluntly and charge easterners with being snooty. They will tell you that Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal resident look upon westerners as colonialists, not smart enough to be more than hewers of wood and drawers of water in the great Dominion household.

MANY THEORIES

Some of the more audacious westerners say easterners are guilty of political trickery to keep the west forever financially bonded to the east.

Personally I think all these views are erroneous. I think easterners are disliked by westerners because of their innocent ignorance than for any other reason.

I'll give you an example. I could give you many.

I have relatives in Ontario who have never dared visit the west although they are reasonably well fixed. If they write and invite them out, as has been done many times, they write back: "We'd love to go out and see you all. But it's such a terribly long journey and we're not able to stand roughing it like we did in our younger days."

They don't say it in as many words but you can still read between the lines a vague fear of a wide, empty wilderness and perhaps the danger of an encounter with hostile Indians.

Don't laugh. The family I am thinking about live 150 miles from Toronto. They still think that a long journey.

As a youngster I can remember my mother laughing over the letters from back east that were filled with genuine anxiety over our welfare. Was it safe to travel the country by night with the coyotes and wolves so numerous? Was it possible to send the kids to school in the winter time in the bitter cold?

Were the trials and hardships of pioneering in the wild west really worth while?

I think I could still find some of those letters. It's not so long ago that, just back 30 or 35 years, that the good people of Ontario were writing such letters.

Trailer Camp Living Proves Oil Indicator

By John McLean

The metal door swung open on well-oiled hinges and a man stepped down onto the grass. He turned to kiss his wife, then climbed into his car and headed for the oil fields.

Another day had begun for one of the South Side trailer homes. The man, the man to continue the quest for oil, his wife to run their house on wheels.

The AMA camp is jam-packed with such families, people who came here in answer to the boom of oil.

They lead normal lives in a way. There are kids to be washed, floors to be swept, kites to be flown.

There's always an automobile. Perhaps two, one for the man who works in the oil fields and one for his wife who takes the youngsters into town to a movie once in a while.

HERE FOR WHILE

They'll be here for a while, six months perhaps. Then they'll move on, following the wildcat trail. Joe Shirley is one of them. He and his wife and their two kids came here from the Louisiana wildcat hunt last January.

Little Mickey—his mother calls him Sweet Pie—is just four and he plays around the trailer camp all day. There's a little girl, six, who thinks Queen Alexandra school is "just wonderful."

And Mrs. Shirley, blond and pretty and from Brook Haven, Mississippi, says she doesn't mind packin' water every day. "In the summer we get our water over here, just about 100 yards away. But in the winter it isn't much fun. We've got to go a lot further."

"Joe is from Henderson, Texas. Both Joe and I think Canada is a wonderful place. And most people—the right people—don't resent us American working up here. Of course, there are some who do."

Joe Shirley is a loud puffer at Lehigh. He's been at it for 10 years and thinks "the air up here is great."

There are many more at the auto camp. The license plates on their trailers tell the story of oil. There are cars there from British Columbia, Texas, Connecticut, Oklahoma and Wyoming. And these are from Alberta.

CHAMBER ASKS DATE CHANGE

Representation will be made by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce to Dr. J. L. Reason for the request is that opening day of the inquiry is Monday, June 27, election day. The trade body seeks a date subsequent to the election for the opening of the enquiry.

City Man Fined On False Statement

Silverster Bodnaruk, of 10419 98 street, was fined $15 in city court yesterday for making false statements in order to obtain unemployment insurance benefit. He pleaded guilty to the offence, which has been committed on April 27.

Whereabouts of Birth Centre of Argument

When and how young John McCarthy of 11948 79 street, had been born, were the focal points of a trial yesterday when he pleaded not guilty to obstructing a peace officer.

It all happened recently in downtown beer parlor where a waiter doubled accused's age, although McCarthy said he showed his wallet and army discharge certificate proving his 21 years.

The busy waiter, who told court he didn't have time to look at it, sent over the special certificate. The man in blue asked accused his age and claimed he was answered: "I was born in a seed and raised in a sack."

"This was denied by McCarthy and a witness who claim the answer was: 'I wasn't born, I was lashed.'"

Accused also asserted he was old enough to "be in love."

At any rate, the table was cut off beer.

McCarthy made another attempt over at the bar, to show the policeman his certificate.

He was manhandled and ejected from the pub, after he was told he was a "smart-alec talker." Accused was arrested.

Officer and Judge Assail Adult Delinquency Here

By Muriel Salder
Bulletin Staff Reporter

There's more crime in Constable D. R. "Doc" MacNaughton's top drawer than there is in the city police station.

Const. MacNaughton, acting as a juvenile officer here, said yesterday that Edmonton citizens don't realize the extent of juvenile crime.

"I have more crime in one file," he said, pointing to a small filing cabinet, "than they have over at the police court."

"Thefts, sex crimes, wilful damage, breaking and entering and severe assault," he continued, "have them all over and over again in juvenile crimes."

MacNaughton charged that there is not enough action taken to prevent childish crimes and that their existence is not known or realized by the public.

SOME HELP

"A small amount of brainwork on the part of Edmonton citizens and businessmen would help immeasurably to stop juvenile theft and so-called wilful damage."

And Judge C. F. Willis of juvenile court agrees with him.

Although the east feels the general public is more conscious now than before of the prevalence of juvenile crime, he too said that more must be done in the way of prevention.

"The key people, such as businessmen, are not accepting their share of the responsibility," he said.

Adequate playing grounds would solve much of the damage attributed to juveniles, said MacNaughton. He stated that two public schools did not allow children to play on the school grounds on holidays because of broken windows. These children are shooed off to the streets, he contends.

"Why don't they screen their windows," he said. "There aren't enough playgrounds in the city as it is."

He has an answer to juvenile theft too.

"Don't tempt the children. Lock doors. Make store counters too high for unpremeditated shop-lifting by children."

"It's all guns," said Judge Willis.

when speaking of juvenile theft and delinquency. And he seems to be right.

Another of "Doc's" drawers is crammed with a vast heap of lost guns, lost from fifteen cent store shop-lifting. And a half dozen seized air rifles stand in an office corner.

"Get the adults to do their part," said Judge Willis. "Because they're the delinquents. The children are the victims."

Strawberries Come To Delight Palate

By Ben Thrifty

Huzzah! They're here! I'm singing this loud song of joy and gladness about fresh strawberries... sweet, luscious, wonderful strawberries.

A few cases trickled into the city late yesterday. More came during the night and today we're buying them at 45c and 50c per small box. This is of course a sky-high price for about 20 strawberries. But then... they will go down the price scale fairly rapidly.

Good berry crops are spoken of in jubilant terms by fruit growers of the Fraser River Valley and the Okanagan Valley.

They'll be plentiful this year... we'll be happy about delicious strawberry shortcake... strawberry pie, strawberry jam and preserves will fill our shelves... and what is going to happen when diet wars confronted with the temptation of strawberries?

I splurged on the new arrival and unsuspecting of husband will have strawberry shortcake for supper.

To see his happy face light when he digs into his favorite dessert is certainly worth far more than the 50c outlay.

You know... pineapples fade from the picture when desert problems can be answered by fresh strawberries... soooooo.

Three tiny tots with wind-blown curls were meandering around a large department store today... munching happily on raisins.

I asked them if they were lost from their mummy... but no... clever Mummy had hidden them each a nickel box of raisins and they were following her around... at a distance of course.

... happy with their raisin treats.

These little boxes of high-quality raisins are better than candy for the small fry... and they're kept buster for longer... eating each grain separately and with a great deal of care.

I saw an almost startling array of corded silk and fabric bags today... in a variety of colors.

WHY GROW OLD

Perfection Is A Lovely Thing

By Josephine Lowman

Perfection is a lovely thing when we meet it, if we ever do an usually, when we think we have discovered it in a person, an object or a moment, it actually lies in our own eyes or heart or viewpoint. It's fine to strive towards this elusive goal but if the struggle for perfection becomes too constant or too intense, life loses its spontaneity and we lose more than we gain.

Take the question of people. Of course there are perfect ones, but why not like them for the nice things about them? Many women are perfectionists. They struggle eternally to have their houses perfect and their children must have perfect manners. I myself think children are more interesting when they throw you a curve once in a while. I never had to worry about lack of them.

Women are often perfectionists when they entertain so that the whole thing becomes stilted. The guests would probably have had more fun with their feet on the kitchen table. Life would not be nearly so much fun if everything and everyone were perfect.

The wish for perfection has an accompanying fear of looking foolish or making a mistake and keeps many women from doing things they would greatly enjoy. They will look silly when they overwork making it a success.

I think children should be brought up to feel that they must help beautifully the home and to keep it clean and orderly.

So, poor overworked mother, let your daughters help you with the family chores.

It will not curtail the pleasures of their youth, for if the work is divided among the children the burden will be light for all and there will be plenty of time for play.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Emotional Strain Great For Expectant Mothers

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Two letters that seem to dovetail beautifully came in the same mail.

One is the plea of a prospective mother to write something that will help her husband to see she is not faking because she feels sick and tired; the other from a woman who wants to overcome the same condition.

The husband of the first woman said, "My mother had a large family and she got along all right." One might ask here, just what could any child know of his mother's emotions at this time?

Here is a good answer to this skeptical husband. Mrs. R. F. writes, "I am a mother-to-be and my husband and I are thrilled at the prospect of having a baby. The baby will be born in November and up to three weeks ago I felt fine, liking everything, our furniture, cooking, cleaning and so on. Then I began to feel nauseated and lost my appetite."

"Along with that my whole mental attitude changed. I am worried in this just me, or is it common to feel this way? I know it is temporary but it makes me feel guilty."

"I suddenly don't like anything, cleaning, cooking, radio programs, staying home, going out or even my husband's loving attentions."

"I do love my husband very much but I am not myself at all. I feel so bewildered. We both want a baby, I try hard to fight my emotions and figure them out. I want to go to my happy and light-hearted mother who will be greatly appreciated."

The first mother was answered personally, but I hope she shows your letter to her husband.

Punch Parties Score With Summer Guests

Cool Drinks, Blended to Perfection
Key a Party Refreshment to Success

By Jane Scott

Summer parties are punch parties, whatever the occasion. If the punch bowl is full of a sparkling, tangy beverage, your refreshment problems will vanish. Here's how to blend cool drinks for a dance, a garden fete or a children's party.

GARDEN PARTY PUNCH

Combine 3 cups boiling water and 2 tablespoons tea. Let steep 5 minutes. Remove tea. Add 1 cup sugar. Stir until dissolved. Cool. Combine and chill 1 cup orange juice, 1/2 cup lemon juice, and 1 cup pineapple juice. Place block of ice in punchbowl. Pour in tea and fruit juices. Decorate with orange slices and mint leaves. At last minute add 1 pint ginger ale and 1 pint soda water. Yield: Approx. 2½ quarts.

PINEAPPLE CHAMPAGNE PUNCH

Do this the day before party: Remove dividers from two large refrigerator trays. Fill with 8 cups (2 large cans) pineapple juice. Freeze until hard, adding dashes of lime slices just before it is firm.

Two hours before party, combine 2 packages frozen pineapple chunks (partially thawed), 3 cups sugar, and 2 cups lemon juice (12 large lemons). Let stand, stirring to dissolve sugar. Squeeze with sugar, 3 cups fresh strawberries. To serve: Press frozen blocks of pineapple in large glass punchbowl. Add pineapple-lemon syrup and strawberries. Pour in 2 large (4-5 qt.) bottles Sauterne, chilled. At very last minute pour in 2 large (4-5 qt.) bottles champagne.

GINGAMA CREAM

1 cup whipping cream; 2 tablespoons icing sugar; few grains salt; 3 bananas; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 1 cup cookie or cake crumbs (gingernaps are good). Experiment by substituting 1/2 cup bread crumbs for 1/2 cup flour in your muffin recipe. Use bread and cake crumbs for filling and tart shells. Use them as a dressing for vegetables, such as spreading dry bread crumbs over a cooked vegetable, dot it with butter and maybe even sprinkle with a little cheese (this makes it au gratin), and place in a hot oven or under the broiler for just a few seconds.

CRUMB PIE SHELL

1 cup sweet cracker crumbs; 1/4 cup sugar; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; 1/2 cup melted shortening. Mix crumbs, sugar and cinnamon. Blend in butter. Press into a 9-inch pan or plate and chill. If you wish to use the crust at once, bake without chilling, it is a moderate oven, 375 deg. F., for 15 minutes. For cracker crumbs use graham crackers, zwieback, rusks, vanilla chocolate, lemon cookies, or ginger snaps. Omit cinnamon with chocolate or lemon and ginger snaps. (Halved wafer make an attractive border around the pie shell.)

FLAPPER PIE

Make 1½ times the crumb crust recipe, reserving 1/3 of the mixture for a topping. Cream, filling: 1/2 cup milk; 1/3 cup flour; 1 egg or 2 egg yolks; 1/4 cup sugar; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/4 tablespoon butter; 1/4 teaspoon vanilla. Scald the milk, thicken with the flour blended with 2 extra tablespoons milk. Beat the eggs and add the sugar and salt, stir into the milk mixture. Beat in the butter and cook over hot water until thickened (15 to 20 minutes), stirring occasionally, add flavoring. Chill and pour into crumb shell. Top with cracker crumbs as above, or use whipped cream.

BREAD CRUMB AND CAKE CRUMB CRUSTS FOR PIES

Use 1½ cups toasted, sliced bread crumbs, or the same amount of cake crumbs. Add 1/4 cup sugar, 6 tablespoons melted butter and 1 teaspoon of cinnamon. This crust is to be good, must be baked before it is filled. Place in a moderate oven, 375 deg. F., for 15 minutes.

NEW FLAVOR for canned vegetables is the answer to the housewife's problem of what to do until fresh vegetables are ready in the garden. A little onion or celery has been added to the water in which these peas were cooked.

FRENCH TOAST, crisp bacon and maple syrup make the kind of a breakfast that any hungry family likes to meet up with in the morning. Breakfast can be the most interesting meal of the day.

So You Say Breakfast Just Isn't Interesting!

Breakfast can be turned into the most interesting meal of the day—if the housewife is the kind of person who likes experimenting with new recipes.

For instance, even an egg can be given a new look—and with little added effort on the part of the cook. Egg-and-Nest: Carefully separate the yolk from the white of one egg. Beat the white until it stands in stiff peaks and pile on a piece of thinly-buttered toast. Make a hollow in the beaten white and into this drop the yolk of the egg. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in oven long enough for the egg white to brown.

Johnny Cake also is a dish which the family will regard as a special breakfast treat. Ingredients: one cup flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half cup brown sugar, two-thirds cup sugar, one cup cornmeal, one cup sweet milk, one egg, three tablespoons melted butter or shortening. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt, sugar, several times. Add cornmeal; add to this a well-beaten egg which has been mixed with milk. Stir the liquid gradually into the dry ingredients. Pour mixture into a greased hollow pan. Bake in a hot oven 20 to 30 minutes.

Shredded Wheat Muffins—Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted flour; shortening; add to flour mixture. Stir only until blended. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in a hot oven 25 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

Shredded Wheat Griddle Cakes—Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted flour; three teaspoons baking powder; two teaspoons sugar; one teaspoon salt; one-quarter cup shortening; three shredded wheat biscuits, finely crumbled; two eggs, beaten; two cups milk.

Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in shortening until fine as meal. Add shredded wheat. Combine eggs and milk; pour over dry ingredients and mix until dampened. Drop batter by spoonful, spreading thinly, on lightly greased hot griddle. When cakes puff and bubble, turn and brown. Serve hot with honey or syrup. Make 14 large cakes.

French Toasted Shredded Wheat—Ingredients: Two eggs, one cup milk, one teaspoon salt, and shredded wheat biscuits. Add shredded wheat biscuits, finely crumbled, to egg mixture. Pour in small amount of fat until golden brown on both sides. Broil with butter and serve with jam or honey. Serves four to six.

Before painting over a surface which is still glossy, rub down the entire surface lightly with steel wool or extra fine sandpaper and then remove dust. This gives a "tooth" in which the new coating will adhere more firmly.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas
HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Let's look in on Betty Hutton, who says she is hovering "on cloud No. 9" these days.

The blonde bombshell was resting between strenuous dance rehearsals with Fred Astaire for "Let's Dance" when she was asked her role to follow—"Annie Get Your Gun."
"I'm so excited I can't sleep—I just lie there singing 'Doin' What Comes Naturally,'" she said.
"For four years I've been trying to do Annie. I haven't been happy with the pictures I've had since Buddy DeSylva left Paramount and I pleaded with them to let me do it. I really bawled them out when they told me I couldn't get it."
Betty said she never gave up hope that she would play Annie. After the picture began shooting, then Judy Garland was suspended for her reporting to the set and M.G.M. began dithering for Betty.

Reserve Supt. Says Indians Are Increasing

WETASKIWIN, June 2.—Kivans of Wetaskiwin at their regular Monday evening dinner meeting heard a lot of generally unknown facts regarding the Indian population of Canada. Harold N. Woodworth, superintendent of the Hobema Indian reserve, told them, for instance, that the Indian population was increasing. The increase across Canada last year was two percent. The government is running out of land for Indians too, he told them, and that may become quite a problem. Another fact emphasized by Dr. Woodworth was the lack of school facilities for Indian children. Two hundred Indians are fast disappearing and the majority of those now on reservations are breeders.

Pearls Are Formed By the Lowly Oyster

Dear Tawashi: You all know what a pearl looks like, but I wonder how many of you know anything else about these beautiful ornaments. Most of the pearls we see are imitation, not real ones at all. If you look at a real pearl and then look at the inside of an oyster shell, you will notice that there is something the same about each. Pearls come from oysters that live in the waters of the warm southern seas. Oysters make the valuable jewel.

Making of the pearl is rather curious. The oyster lives in the sea quite happily with nothing to do but eat and grow. The changing tides bring him food that gets swept into his mouth. The tide also brings him the lime, as well as other minerals which are in salt water and help to build up his shell.

Then, one day, a tiny grain of sand may drift in and hurt the oyster's tender skin. Since he cannot throw the grain out he covers it up. Layer after layer of milky-white cement is used to cover the grain of sand and each layer hardens as it covers the grain. Each layer seems to be more translucent and more brilliant than the one before.

What's happened is that the oyster has made a pearl. At first it is a tiny pearl called a seed pearl, but as the years pass and additional layers are added around the seed grain, the oyster makes a pearl worth hundreds of dollars. Sometimes the water dies for eight years.

But the pearl is of no value to him if it is in the oyster at the bottom of a sea. Pearl hunters come in small schooners to an oyster bed and a diver goes into the water to find the oysters. Up to now comes with the oysters that may have a pearl inside.

Some pearls will be very valuable and big, while others will not be worth as much money. It's funny, isn't it, that an oyster manufactures a pearl which everybody wants? All the oyster gets out of the operation of pearl collecting is death.

Some men have risked their lives to find the beautiful jewels while others have fought and killed in the attempt to get pearls. It's an interesting story, don't you think? Sincerely, Joan Walker

Mining Industry Needs Freedom Says Group Head

TORONTO, June 2.—(CP)—The mining industry can make its maximum contribution to the future well-being of Canada only if it is unshackled by unnecessary restrictions, J. G. MacGill said in his presidential address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Mining Association here yesterday.

"The future of free enterprise will be determined by whether or not it can prove that it offers better conditions of life than any other system," he said. "We have a great opportunity and responsibility."

"The mining industry needs freedom in the way it operates; it needs the full understanding of the public in authority. Danger from such restrictions will diminish the more the industry can prove that it can conduct its own operations in a free and sane manner of responsibility to all who are dependent on them."

"Mining is dependent on and is protected by the government and creative spirit. It thrives on initiative, enterprise and good adaptability to circumstances," Mr. MacGill declared.

Base Metals Future Bright

TORONTO, June 2.—(CP)—No one doubts that there is a great future ahead for Canada's base metals and industrial minerals, president James MacGill said yesterday in his address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Mining Association here.

"The future of free enterprise will be determined by whether or not it can prove that it offers better conditions of life than any other system," he said. "We have a great opportunity and responsibility."

"The mining industry needs freedom in the way it operates; it needs the full understanding of the public in authority. Danger from such restrictions will diminish the more the industry can prove that it can conduct its own operations in a free and sane manner of responsibility to all who are dependent on them."

"Mining is dependent on and is protected by the government and creative spirit. It thrives on initiative, enterprise and good adaptability to circumstances," Mr. MacGill declared.

Coarse Grain Futures Continue to Retreat

WINNIPEG, June 2.—(CP)—Announcement that the Canadian Wheat Board would take over the selling and buying of oats and barley continued to be reflected by lower trends in these commodities today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Increased production offerings were noted, particularly in barley and oats, with prices recorded lower by 14 cents despite fair export by exporters and processors. Moderate shippers demand in oats, while offerings and commission and Am. prices were unchanged.

Rice prices moved narrowly but showed a steady trend in oats, while offerings and commission and Am. prices were unchanged.
